Holistic Development of Slums

Since 1999

The urban slum reflects urban poverty. People who live in slums suffer from multidimensional poverty. The poor-quality air, lack of hygienic food & shelter, inappropriate sanitation, high density of population, lack of elementary education etc. pushes their life into severe anguish and despair.

Bengaluru, the Silicon city of India has a considerable slum population with 800 slums and their problems are extremely significant. The immeasurable plight suffered by them invariably leads to increased crime rates and domestic violence. Despite majority slum dwellers working as integral part of development of the state in maintenance of cleanliness, construction of public assets, as scavengers etc, they are confined to the bubble of poverty.

It's high time we discern the problems of slum dwellers and eradicate the social stigma of the society. Rashtrorothana Trust is taking a giant leap in this direction under 'Seva Vasathi' initiative. It has addressed the problems of slum population in Bengaluru and has taken the oath of integrated development of slums. Basic education, vocational training, health facilities, uprooting social injustices and gender discrimination are the focus areas. Rashtrorothana Trust is rigorously working towards enlightening the lives of socially disintegrated sections and strives to bring them to the mainstream of nation's progress.

Rashrotthana Trust was formed in 2003 and has been managing socially transformative service activities like Tapas, Saadhana, Holistic Development of Slums and Shelter for Destitute Children.

Tapas and Saadhana are two projects that work towards nurturing meritorious but underprivileged boys and girls respectively with free Senior Secondary education, IIT-JEE and NEET entrance exam coaching, food, hostel, healthcare, books, uniforms and all other facilities for 2 years. The students are selected through a meticulous multi-level selection process that scrutinizes their academic and financial criteria.
